A historical photograph of a salt works facility. On the left, a tall, dark brick chimney stands against a light-colored, textured wall. In the foreground, there are several large wooden buildings with gabled roofs, some showing signs of age and wear. The ground in front of the buildings is a mix of dirt and sparse grass. In the background, a few dark-colored horses or mules are visible, grazing or standing in a field. The overall scene is set in a rural, historical environment.

A person wearing a blue beanie, a dark jacket, and dark pants stands in a field. They are holding a shovel and looking down at a narrow, shallow water channel that runs through the field. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. In the background, there is a fence line and some distant hills under a clear blue sky.
